

Critical illness cover explained

Video transcript

Life can be unpredictable.

So it makes sense to protect both yourself and your loved ones.

Have you heard of critical illness cover?

It helps you and your family financially if you're diagnosed with a serious illness.

And can be added to your life insurance policy when you take it out.

Critical illness cover pays out a one-off lump sum as soon as possible after you're diagnosed with one of the conditions covered by your policy...

...Giving you a financial cushion to help cover costs.

You can also add your children to your critical illness cover.

With critical illness cover, you get to use the money however you like.

Use it to cover the cost of your treatments,

to pay off your mortgage,

or maybe take your family on a once-in-a-lifetime trip.

Without having to worry about money from being off work, you can focus on the most important thing...

Looking after yourself.

The peace of mind critical illness cover brings is priceless.

But, of course, money's not everything.

That's why all of our customers and their families have access to a free and professional counselling service, 24/7.

With Zurich, you're in safe hands.
